

Field work / construction site experience is indispensable for developing the skills necessary in geotechnical engineering and neighbouring disciplines.

